August 2007

Night Out on Crime

Sign for National Night Out on Crime at Washington Manor.

Several of Charleston-Kanawha Housing's communities celebrated the National Night Out on Crime event on August 7, 2007.

Carroll Terrace residents hosted a covered dish dinner in their community room & welcomed members of the Charleston Police & Fire Departments. About 150 people attended the event.

Washington Manor residents also had visits from the local police & fire department and gave away pizza, hotdogs and cake. About 150 people attended the events at Washington Manor.

Orchard Manor residents had music, games, movies, job/career information, freedom fighters recovery program, disaster volunteer program, voter registration cards and more for tenants in their community. They gave away free hotdogs, cake & ice cream and had visits from both police & fire departments. About 50 people attended the event.

Littlepage Terrace residents also had visits from local law enforcement and firemen and had about 25 people attend their event.

FSS Graduates

Charleston-Kanawha Housing Authority recognized two Section 8 Family Self-Sufficiency graduates at the Board of Commissioners meeting on August 27, 2007, Pia Long and Carletta Conley.

Pia Long, pictured above, attended the College of Wooster and has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish. She teaches 3-6 year olds at Mountaineer Montessori School in Charleston. She recently got married and she is a cheerleading coach for Midwestern Midget Football League.

Ms. Long said that the FSS Program, "helped me regain my confidence and held me accountable. I have set goals and achieved them."

Carletta Conley, pictured above, received her nursing assistant certification and works for Kellys Home Care. She hopes to become a registered nurse.

Ms. Conley said that the FSS program helped her in two ways, "#1 it is always good to keep a job and #2 staying off of public assistance made me stronger." She also felt that the FSS program was beneficial to her and her family because she was able to take the homeownership counseling classes and is currently looking for a house to buy.

Congratulations to both of these ladies.
